South Kilworth 23d. March 1821

My dear Sir

According to my promise of writing you this day, I take up the pen to say that I had a pleasant journey, and found all our friends here quite well, they were delighted to find that you intended to accept their invitation and I am desired to say that they will have great pleasure in seeing you on Monday and I am sure none more so than Mr. M. whose health and looks are improved much since I saw her. I may add I am sure with great truth that I shall be much gratified by seeing you and with the hospitable friends, enjoying your society" — I hope you have got well over the examination that the opposite party does not take the opportunity of manifesting their spirit by any such questions — & I am to have the pleasure of seeing you to dinner, — I shall add no more, but with the united regards of our worthy friends. I remain ever Dear Sir

Yours very faithfully
John Ross
